Consulting Services

ESG Services in Hong Kong and mainland China. Powered by a global network.

Moore provides ESG Reporting and Advisory Services to help companies address regulatory requirements, and manage shareholders' expectations on ESG risks, opportunities and disclosures. We assist clients in benchmarking their ESG disclosure against their institutional shareholders' requirements, and advise on best ESG practices, including how to engage effectively with investors on key topics.

Our ESG reporting support services

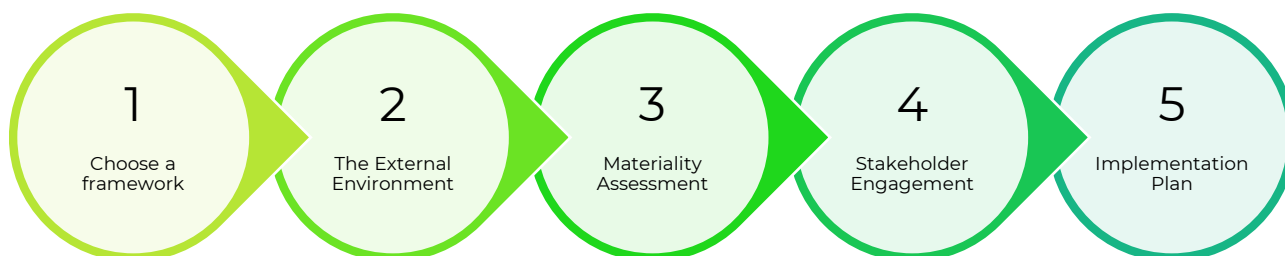

ESG reporting has evolved beyond merely a compliance requirement. It also shows stakeholders how the company manages climate-related risks, captures the relevant opportunities, and creates greater value for investors.

Moore provides ESG reporting and consulting services tailored to your business needs. We understand the changing compliance requirement and can help you manage your stakeholder's expectations on ESG risks, opportunities and disclosures. We can also help you benchmark the ESG disclosures and advise on best ESG practices. Our team shares insights on the policies and regulations governing ESG disclosure in mainland China and Hong Kong. We also assist our client in preparing ESG reports that align with other international reporting guidelines such as the UN Sustainable Development Goals (UNSDGs), Global Reporting Initiative (GRI), and Sustainability Accounting Standards Board (SASB).

Climate-related risk assessment and sustainability support services

The trend in climate-related corporate disclosures has shifted from a nice-to-have to a need-to-have. Global regulators are putting greater emphasis on mandating these disclosures. Our ESG team is familiar with international requirements such as the Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD) and IFRS Sustainability Disclosure Standards (IFRS S1 & S2). We have extensive experience in preparing sustainability reporting. We can recommend suitable climate reporting strategies and establish carbon inventories for clients during the report drafting process. We also provide climate-related disclosure services to fund manager clients, as required by the Securities and Futures Commission (SFC).

ESG verification and assurance

We offer independent assurance services designed to add value by enhancing your reporting processes and add credibility to the ESG information you publish. Our assurance process includes desk-based reviews, interviews with the management, and review of documented evidence to verify and assure your ESG metrics and targets.

Our assurance follows internationally recognised standards, such as ISAE 3000, to deliver a robust process that adds credibility to your sustainability reporting.

ESG training

Moore conducts company-specific education sessions for management and board members involved in external investor engagements. We stay abreast of key ESG-related topics such as emerging trends, reporting frameworks, rating agencies, and institutional investors.

Green finance

In recent years, leading financial centres around the world including mainland China and Hong Kong have been actively promoting green economy. Authorised banks in Hong Kong encourage corporates to achieve their goals on sustainable development by providing green loans and sustainability-linked loan financing services for eligible environmentally sustainable green projects, or for corporate funding to improve sustainability performance targets.

At Moore, our ESG specialists can provide a wide range of customised analysis and support services in green finance areas, including:

- Complying with regulatory developments on ESG risk assessment, measurement and disclosure.
- Developing ESG policies and frameworks to support investment decision processes, impact monitoring, portfolio construction and reporting to investors.

Why work with us?

- Our team includes professionals with practical and solid knowledge and experience.
- The team comprises charter holders or members of professional bodies such as HKICPA, CISA, CFA, CESGA and Certified ESG Planner.
- We have extensive sector knowledge to provide customised advice to suit each client taking into account size, capabilities and goals.

Backed by our international network, we have the scope to provide clients with all solutions and expertise they require, wherever they choose to do business.
